A.J. Kotich, a Kansas lawyer for more than 42 years, a proud Marine Corp. Veteran, a part-time Washburn University business and labor relations instructor was diagnosed with stage four brain cancer in June of 2015.

A.J. was a long time public servant and was the 2014 Kansas Democratic nominee for Attorney General of Kansas.

A.J. passed away October 20, 2015.

Today, nearly 700,000 people in the United States are living with a primary brain tumor, and approximately 78,000 more will be diagnosed in 2016. Brain tumors can be deadly, significantly impact quality of life, and change everything for a patient and their loved ones. They do not discriminate, inflicting men, women, and children of all races and ethnicities.
