

The National Brain Tumor Society presents

Race for Hope Philadelphia

Saturday, October 12, 2019 | The Navy Yard, Philadelphia

With nearly 800,000 people in the US living with a primary brain tumor, the National Brain Tumor Society is committed to improving the lives of all those affected by funding research and public policy efforts.

The Race for Hope Philadelphia Brain Tumor Walk and 5K Run offers individuals and teams a chance to honor and remember loved ones, connect with others interested in the brain tumor cause, and helps to educate the local community on the diverse needs of the brain tumor community.
